

Element

Philippe Malouin

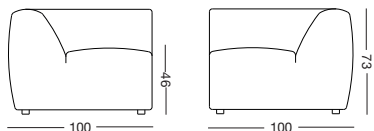

The Element is a modular sofa system that also comes as a standard three-seat sofa, developed from the idea of creating a fully enclosed conversation pit, or a pool. The Element sofa was awarded the Design Guild Mark in 2024.

Designer

Canadian designer Philippe Malouin moved to London after studying in Montreal, Paris and Eindhoven. He set up his Hackney based design studio in 2008 where he creates his portfolio of furniture, lighting, rugs and artworks, each exhibiting a clearly expressed geometric dimension that enhances their aesthetic appeal and individuality.

SCP and Malouin began working together in 2017 when they created the rotating Group chair after meeting through Roll & Hill's Gridlock light project.
